INTEREST RUNS HIGH AS TAX-PAYERS MEET

HUNDREDS HAVE JOINED ORGANIZATION RECENTLY.

Meeting Is Called For Saturday To Select Advisory Board and Make Plans.

Hundreds of taxpayers in Canyon and Randall County have signed their names to the membership roll of the Randall County Taxpayers League within the last week, according to reports given at the meeting of that organization Saturday afternoon.

J. W. McCrerey, temporary chairman, presided and called for reports from various members of the membership committee. These men have been canvassing the county and have discovered that interest in the League is growing rapidly and the taxpayers are daily becoming more interested in the problems which are confronting the local government and the expenditures that are involved in carrying on the affairs of the community. There are no membership dues for the organization. All that is required of prospective members is that they sign their names to the roll.

It is the aim of the Taxpayers League to study the tax problems of city and county and by careful investigation discover, if possible, more economic measures of business, thereby effecting a direct saving for the property owners in the county. Plans are being made to have experts in taxation and community government speak to the members of the League and to direct the study along progressive lines.

A meeting of the League has been called by Mr. McCrerey for 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the court house at which time the executive board will be organized and an advisory board selected. All members are urged to be present.

Pioneer Newspaper Man Still Active at McAlester, Okla.

John W. Edgel, publisher of the first newspaper in Canyon, The Echo, is still in the newspaper business and is now at McAlester, Okla., according to a copy of the Muskogee Daily Phoenix which was sent to John Knight of this city with a write up and photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Edgel.

Mr. Edgel was invited to the 25th anniversary of Canyon's first election last fall by Mr. Knight, but was unable to come.

Mr. Edgel founded The Echo in Canyon in 1889 and published it for 3 years. Several copies of the old paper are in possession of various Canyon people. Before coming to Canyon he established a newspaper at Talihina, Okla., and after disposing of his interest here he returned to Oklahoma, which has since been his home. Mr. Edgel is 77 years old and Mrs. Edgel is 75. Both are active in the conduct of their printing business.

The review published of them tells of the early development of the State, when Edgel was an authority so far as the history and customs of the Choctaw Indians were concerned. Many interesting experiences were recalled in his dealings with the Indians and the development of Oklahoma.

The American Legion and the Auxiliary will pay tribute to the noble and inspiring memories of the forty-two soldiers who are sleeping in the local cemetery with a memorial service Monday, May 30th.

A short memorial service will be held at the cemetery at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. C. E. Jameson, pastor of the Methodist church, will make the memorial address and taps will be sounded by Charles Strain. Wreaths and flags provided by the Auxiliary will be placed on the graves following the service.

Of the forty-two soldiers who will be honored, thirty-three are veterans of the war between the States, three are veterans of the Spanish American War and six are veterans of the World War.

World War dead who will be honored are Virgil Brown, Archie Key, Robert Donald, Grady Wallace, Bartow Johnson, and Walter J. Hess.

A wreath will also be placed on the memorial on the court house square in honor of the veterans whose names are inscribed on the plate.

Congressman-at-Large Candidate Visited in City

Judge W. Erskine Williams, Fort Worth lawyer, was a visitor in Canyon last week in the interest of his candidacy for Congressman-at-Large, Place No. 1. Judge Williams is making a swing through Northwest Texas, the Panhandle, South Plains and extreme West Texas.

While in the city, he was with his friend G. G. Foster, who introduced him to a number of our leading citizens and helped to organize and select a chairman for an "Erskine Williams for Congress" club. Mr. Foster was chosen as this chairman and with more than 60 other clubs already organized in Texas will aid Judge Williams in his campaign.

Judge Williams is a long-time resident of Fort Worth, having been a lawyer there for more than 30 years and is now for the second time vice-president for Texas of the American Bar Association. He has also just completed a year's term as president of the Fort Worth and Tarrant County Bar Association, and last fall delivered a series of lectures at Southern Methodist University on the United States Constitution.

Besides his work in the legal fraternity, Judge Williams has been an active leader in the Methodist church and for four years was president of its General Board on Laymen's work and wrote the first constitution for that organization. Also, he is a member of the State Commission for the celebration of the George Washington Bicentennial and has delivered a number of lectures in that connection.

Training School Summer Fees Are Reduced

Matriculation fees for the high school department of the West Texas State Teachers College demonstration school have been reduced to $5.00 for the twelve weeks summer term, according to the statement of Dr. J. A. Hill.

This action was determined upon because of the financial conditions which prevail. The reduced fees will enable many boys and girls who are irregular in their work to take courses which they need, and will at the same time provide classes of adequate size for advanced college students who are to do their practice teaching during the summer months. The high school is open to pupils from any school or town.

Professor F. E. Savage is superintendent of the Demonstration school and Miss Jennie C. Ritchie is principal of the high school.

VISIT MUSEUM

Visitors at the Historical Society Museum this week include Ida Louise Dennis and Mrs. Lucy Dennis of Granbury, Texas, Mrs. Lela Morgan and Mrs. J. W. Whittle of Amarillo, and Mrs. Jenkins of Clarendon. The Abernathy High school recently sent a large delegation to visit the museum.

Henry Wiggins of Weatherford, Okla., spent the week-end at the parental Sam Wiggins home. He is captain of the Southwestern Teachers football team for the coming year.

1.97 INCHES RAIN TUESDAY HELPS CROPS

FIRST GOOD RAIN IN MONTH COVERS COUNTY.

Wheat is Helped, But Yield Low for This Year—Heaviest Rain West of Town Fills Creeks.

Rain amounting to 1.97 inches fell in Canyon Tuesday afternoon and night, the first rain for more than a month on the Plains.

The rain resembled almost a cloud burst west of the city, reports having it that from four to seven inches of rain had fallen in the Umbarger territory. The barpits along the highways were overflowing, and both north and south creeks were out of their banks as the result of the downpour.

Nearly every part of the county was benefitted by the rain, although little rain fell in the northwest portion and was light in the south part.

As to the benefit to the wheat, a difference of opinion was expressed yesterday. All agree that wheat will be greatly benefitted, but the general opinion is that in spite of the prolonged drouth this spring, there will be more wheat than was expected. However, estimates of yesterday seem to be that Randall county will not harvest more than 25 percent as much wheat this year as was harvested last year.

S. M. Downing states that 150 acres of row crop was washed out on his place west of the city, and this was the first time that water on the north creek had come up into his hog sheds. He states that the rain will be fine for the row crops, which had not been washed out, and the grass over the county.

Reports from over the county indicates that more gardens have been planted by farmers this year than ever before in the history of the county. These will be greatly benefitted by the rain and early vegetables are expected for home use as well as for the markets.

Hail fell west of the city in many places, and did considerable damage. It is reported that at the Burrus place northwest of Canyon all of the wheat and row crops were totally destroyed by the hail and the heavy rain.

MRS. CECIL NEWBERRY MOVES TO LUBBOCK

Mrs. Cecil Newberry and children left Friday for Lubbock where they will join Mr. Newberry, who has been there for several months, and will make their future home there.

Mrs. Newberry has been employed for several years at the Peoples Store and it is with regret that her friends see her leave. However, residents of the city welcome back a former citizen in the person of Mrs. John Sikes who is succeeding Mrs. Newberry in her position at the store.

Housewives, Here Is Big Chance To Win

Housewives of Canyon! You will soon have an opportunity to demonstrate your abilities as chefs in the Canyon News' First Annual Cooking School which is to be given June 7, 8 ,9, and 10th at the American Legion Hall.

Contests in cake baking and pie making are big features of the school and offer an excellent opportunity for every housewife to show the tastiness of her wares. Prizes ranging in value from $10 down will be given the winning entries.

Members of the City Federation of Women's clubs are cooperating with the News in putting on the contest and in handling the entries. Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig, culinary expert in charge of the school, will do the judging together with two representatives from the clubs.

The prize winning pastries will become the property of the City Federation and will be sold at auction the last day of the school. Other entries will also be sold and the money from all sales will go into the fund of the Federated Cubs.

The women of the city are cooperating heartily with the News and the business men to make the Cooking School one of the outstanding features of the year. Mrs. Ihrig, the instructor, is one of the best known cooks in the southwest and is noted for her personal charm as well as her ability. She gives practical information in the selection of dishes and preparation of meals, giving valuable hints on time economy and money economy.

Ancient Auto To Be Run in Parade

A Zimmerman automobile of 1909 vintage will be the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society's contribution to Pampa's Frontier Days Celebration May 26, 27, 28.

This old car was owned by L. T. Davault and was recently given by his son, L. T. Davault, Jr., to the Historical Society. Lorenzo Wirt, a skilled mechanic put it into condition and the car was driven fifteen miles in a recent celebration at Plainview. Professor L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the Historical Society, and Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the West Texas State Teachers College rode in it.

High wheels, like those used on buggies, and with tiny solid rubber tires are features of the old car.

BANKS OBSERVE HOLIDAY

The banks of Canyon will observe Memorial Day, Monday, May 30, and will be closed all day.

Mrs. L. F. Sheffy left this morning for Temple, where her sister, Mrs. Claude Dillehay of Hereford has gone for medical treatment.

L. F. Sheffy is attending the old timers reunion at Pampa today.

WALTER HENCKELL TO RETURN TO PANHANDLE

Walter Henckell of Virginia who has spent the last two summers in Canyon in the interest of the missionary work of the Episcopal church will be back in the Panhandle this summer and will spend a portion of his time here.

Mr. Henckell is a student at the Theological Seminary at Alexandria, Virginia. He will arrive about June 15th and will work with Bishop E. C. Seaman in the Missionary district of North Texas. He has many friends here to welcome him.

J. L. Prichard is Candidate for Justice of the Peace

J. L. Prichard has announced his candidacy for Justice of the Peace, Precinct No. 1. Mr. Prichard is one of the best known citizens of Randall county, which has been his home for 42 years.

Mr. Prichard has virtually "grown up" with Randall county. He came when this was almost one cow-pasture, and has witnessed the development of the county into one of the leading agricultural counties of Northwest Texas. He has had a vital part in this development.

Mr. Prichard states that he understands the needs of the office he now seeks and the duties connected therewith. If elected he will devote his time and efforts in the proper fulfillment of duties which would devolve upon him. He will greatly appreciate the support of his friends in the campaign, and if elected will do his very best to properly fulfill the duties of the office. He will very greatly appreciate the votes at the primary July 23 of those who believe him qualified to fulfill the duties of the office.

John L. McCarty, Dalhart Editor, Talks on Museum

John L. McCarty, aggressive editor of the Dalhart Texan, struck a new note here today when he made an appeal for the support of the movement to build the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum, saying: "To say we owe a debt to our pioneers because of the hardships they suffered has not appealed to me. Our pioneers suffered hardships for two very practical reasons; first, to earn a living and have a home; second, to locate where their children would have an opportunity to acquire homes and property."

"If we are to build the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum, we should build it because of the love our forefathers had for us and because of the common sense which promoted their actions. They suffered hardships, it is true, but they did so because there are times when real men and women choose hardship and glory in it."

"I am more interested," said McCarty who is himself part Indian, in the record of the peace-time, honest trade relations that existed between such white men as Colonel Charles Goodnight and the Indians than I am in the story of battles, glorious though they be."

McCarty, an ex-student of the West Texas State Teachers College appeared as the principal speaker on a program presented to interest the present college students in the completion of the Historical Society's building project which is going forward under the direction of the president, T. D. Hobart of Pampa and a building committee with Professor L. F. Sheffy of Canyon as its director. Less than $5,000 is now needed to complete the building fund of $25,000 and secure for the Society the conditional appropriation of $25,000 made by the State.

Rev. E. E. Madiera To Preach Last Sermon Sunday

Rev. E. E. Madeira, who has been in charge of the Episcopal missions at Plainview, Dalhart, and Canyon for nearly two years, has accepted a call to Springfield, Ill., and will be in Canyon for the last time next Sunday night, May 29th, when he will preach and conduct service as usual, at eight o'clock p. m., at the local Episcopal church.

Mr. Madeira has made many friends in Canyon, especially among the young people, and he would like very much to see them once more before leaving the Panhandle. All of his friends are invited to hear his last sermon, and to meet him and Mrs. Madeira at the Little House of Fellowship after the service to say goodbye. Those attending the baccalaureate service of the Demonstration School, are invited to drop in at the Little House afterwards.

C.H.S. FACULTY FOR NEXT TERM IS ANNOUNCED

FEW CHANGES MADE IN LIST OF TEACHERS.

George Terry is Elected Principal; T. H. Barksdale Chosen As Coach.

The public schools faculty has been completed for the coming year, with the exception of two teachers, stated Irby B. Carruth, superintendent, yesterday. Only two new teachers have been added to the faculty for the coming year, the high school principal and the coach of athletics. All of the teachers who were re-elected have served with the schools the past year. Three teaching positions were eliminated by the board of trustees for the coming year, one each in the high school, the intermediate grades and the primary. The only positions yet to be filled are those of home economics teacher and public speaking teacher.

George Terry, for four years principal of the Olton high school, has been elected high school principal. He was a former student in W. T. and holds his B. A. degree from S. M. U. He is working on his M. A. degree.

Walter Hunter Tells Death of Negro by Lightning Near City

Death by lightning of a negro on July 28, 1891, at Happy Draw, a mile and one-half from the site now occupied by the town of Happy, was described in an article by Walter Hunter of Coleman in the Dallas News recently on his experiences as a cowboy in the early days of West Texas.

Judge J. W. Turner was Justice of the Peace in Canyon at that time, and held the inquest over the body. The negro was buried in Dreamland Cemetery, and the incident is recalled by John Knight and several other old timers who were here at that time.

With Hunter was Charlie and John Carruthers, Joe Lang, Bill Donica, and other old time cow boys recalled by early settlers of the Plains.

The negro, named Chalk, was riding with the cowboys attempting to round up the herd of 3,117 which had stampeded during a storm. There was a vivid flash of lightning, and the negro was found dead, together with his horse.

A coffin and burial outfit was procured from Canyon, and the body of the negro brought here for burial. This is the only negro ever buried in Randall county, so far as known, and the grave has probably been lost.

The story as related in the Dallas News was of interest to many old timers. Mr. and Mrs. John Knight have added this to an interesting scrapbook of early history of Randall county.

Americans are independent, and scoff at the idea of European countries keeping a close tab upon its citizens and demanding that they report their whereabouts, if they move their residence or take a trip. But Europe has no great crime, because criminals are quickly apprehended, immediately tried, and the penalty is certain and severe. Some one in Canyon broke 6 windows out of a church Thursday night. Who? No one knows, or will probably ever attempt to find out. Street lights and awning lights of Canyon are broken out nearly every night. By whom? No one takes the trouble to find out. If this were in Europe, some one would be caught and punished. No wonder then, if it is so easy to get away with so-called minor offenses, why it is almost as safe to sell bootleg whiskey in the average American town as it is to sell dry goods. No wonder the murderer feels free to take human life at will, when there are only 2 percent who ever pay the penalty, as compared with 98 percent in Europe. No wonder that kidnapping thrives in America, when it is unheard of in Europe. The strong arm of the law may be inconvenient, but the lessons drawn as between Europe and America are rather humiliating to the boasted independence of the American spirit. A large part of the crimes of America are caused by young men, under 30 years of age. Most of them perhaps were the "bad boys" at school who were not punished by teachers for fear of parental objections, and were allowed to run wild at home by parents who did not care. America is face to face with a tremendous situation which threatens to rock the entire structure of our civilization unless solved, and solved quickly. Foolish sentiment in dealing with criminals and with young outlaws is not the way to settle this problem.

Judge L. Gough of Amarillo will speak Saturday afternoon at the court house to farmers of the county, and others who are interested in farming. Judge Gough is making a campaign for the farmers of the Panhandle, and knows whereof he speaks. Agriculture is on the rocks. Business is on the rocks. Both will stay on the rocks until the producer gets a square deal and an adequate price for his labor. The farmer of today may be able to live at home and sustain his family in better condition than the city man, but until his product brings him a profit so that he may buy luxuries for himself and his family, business cannot improve and the business man will continue to suffer as he has during the past months. The producer is the first man who must recover from the present depression. So long as he is forced to sell his products at prices below cost of production, he has no chance of buying anything from the business or professional man. Hear Judge Gough Saturday.

The care with which Mrs. Ferguson and Jim measured their utterances Saturday in the campaign for governor at Waco may indicate a new day for the Ferguson method of campaigning. Jim used manuscript most of the way through his speech, and his words were not up to the old Ferguson standard of other years. Has time mellowed Ferguson, or does he consider that he will make more friends by a different brand of politics? The development of the campaign will be interesting. In the meanwhile, it is claimed by political observers, that the egotistical position of Dan Moody and Ross Sterling to perpetuate their own followers in office rather than step aside and allow Clint Small to run, may cause the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson in the first primary. They tried to create sentiment for Walter Woodward, but the public did not accept him. The campaign is on, and will wax hotter and hotter until July 23rd.

One hundred members of congress have members of their families on the federal pay roll. Speaker John Garner has Mrs. Garner as his secretary, but all admit that she works at the job, and earns the pay she receives. However, we find that Garner's son has been on the payroll as absentee secretary, living all the while in Texas. Probably Mr. Garner was using his son in that capacity because others were doing it. Maybe this is the reason the expense of our national government continues to soar. Be it said to the credit of our own congressman, Marvin Jones, he has never placed a relative on the federal pay-roll.

"Hooey" Long of Louisiana may talk too much, but he seems to be digging up things in Washington. He reveals that Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader and candidate for vice president in 1928, represents all of the leading utilities and other corporations. Of course that is the ambition of most lawyers who get into politics, to be able to get on the payroll of the corporations. That is about the only way they may hope to make money from the job. However, be it said in favor of these corporations, they seldom employ men unless outstanding ability is shown. Undoubtedly Joe Robinson is of this type.

Very few people in America failed to suffer some losses on account of stock market crash. Congressional investigation is disclosing that manipulation caused most of this loss, and should teach the country a lesson or at least until a new crop of suckers isreared. Seven billions of dollars were wiped out in the stock decline. Who got the money? Probably most of those who started the organized steal were caught themselves in the crash when things went deeper than they anticipated. One safe and sane advice—don't gamble on the stock market unless you want to get rid of your money.

Just what should be done with a fellow like Curtis is hard to say. To take advantages of Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh in their anxiety, and to bait them on for weeks with hopes for the recovery of their child, if not a crime punishable by the written law, is certainly an act heinous enough in nature to put him behind the bars, as criminally insane, for the protection of society. To have tortured the Lindberghs for weeks with hatched up stories, just for the sake of personal publicity, is the work of either a criminal or a fiend.

Complaint is being made in many counties that taxpayers are really not interested in the Taxpayers League, and that few are taking any interest. If so, this is the same thing which caused taxes to mount so rapidly—lack of attention and interest on the part of those who pay the taxes. Active interest on the question of government is very greatly needed, and every person who contributes to the upkeep of government should be interested.

Many storekeepers who have been non advertisers in the past, are now doing considerable advertising, but usually it is for the purpose of trying to raise money, when their customers stopped buying, or receivers are advertising their places for sale. Consistent advertising always pays.

The eighth of nine children of George Boswell of Plainview graduated from the Plainview high school last week. The ninth child, a son, is a junior next year. It goes without saying that the Boswell family is unusual and that it has contributed real worth to this country in the splendid boys and girls of the family.

Militarism in Japan may do for that country what it did to Germany. When any clique, klan, or crowd is able for a long time to control any country, doom awaits that nation.

Kidnapping has increased since the outlaws extracted $50,000 from Lindbergh. It will increase so long as it is profitable, and criminals remain unpunished.

A GOOD PLACE FOR SELF-STARTERS

Plainview Evening Herald: Members of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society are to be congratulated upon the progress made in raising funds for the construction of a museum at the West Texas State Teachers College. This museum would be the joint property of the State of Texas and the people of this area. Half its cost is to be met by a state appropriation, which is contingent upon the people of the area raising an epual sum.

The time limit is drawing near. It is up to the people of the Panhandle-Plains to say with their dollars whether they wish a museum at Canyon, wherein the historical relics and the fragmentary written records of events may be housed and preserved.

Interest is manifest in a wide territory. Witness the receipt of $5 for the museum recently, the gift of the children of the seventh grade at the Knox City school. They sold enough ice cream cones to make that much money. Mrs. Ottis Cash is the history teacher. She told the children of the museum project.

But interest is not intense enough. Many people have heard of the project, but do not realize that the time is so near in which final action must be taken.

Hale County citizens, who are interested in such matters, should respond and respond promptly to this call. The amount is of little consequence. Enough people giving small sums will make up the remainder required.

Particularly should Hale County be interested, for the custodian of the funds and one of the prime factors in the movement is L. F. Sheffy, who as a boy was a citizen of Hale County and yet looks on Hale County as his real home. He has taken an unusual interest in history, and particularly the history of the Panhandle-Plains.

The faculty of the college at Canyon are foregoing the usual cap and gown processional this commencement. This impressive and picturesque feature of commencement is deleted and the usual rental fees of cap and gown will be donated to the fund to build the museum, swelling the fund by approximately $300.

However, this museum is not a college project and is not for the college alone. It just happens that there is no better custodian and maintenance perpetually is assured by using the college as custodian.

A few dollars from every community in the Panhandle-Plains area will complete the fund that is required. The self-starters are those who are going to put this project over, if it is put over. Funds should be mailed to Professor L. F. Sheffy, West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon.

The plane, which will have a cruising speed of 140 miles per hour and a gasoline capacity sufficient for 20 hours' flight without refueling, is being equipped for the trip with special tanks and navigation instruments.

Y. W. C. A. BREAKFASTS AT LITTLE HOUSE

Through the courtesy of Mrs. Elizabeth Fry Page, local student counselor of the Episcopal church, and Mrs. T. V. Reeves of the college faculty, the members of the Y. W. C. A. were guests at a waffle breakfast at the Little House of Fellowship, popular student center, Sunday morning.

Repeating a practice initiated last year, the group met at the Episcopal church at seven o'clock for a brief period of worship. The program was in charge of Dorothy Cash, vice-president of the organization. At the conclusion of this impressive service the girls went to the Little House where informal conversation and music were enjoyed for a short interim before breakfast was announced. Mrs. Reeves, Miss Swisher, Dorothy Cash, and Jean Day officiated at the waffle irons, while Mrs. Page and her assistants set fruit cocktail, bacon, preserves, maple syrup, coffee, and hot chocolate before the group. It took this efficient committee only a short while to gain control and completely satisfy the nineteen hearty appetites present.

Tar Rescued After 2 Died

Dangling from a mooring cable high in the air, Robert Cowart, inset, is shown above just before he was rescued and after two companion sailors had plunged 300 feet to their deaths. Cowart was able to lash himself securely to the cable and, after several hours, was rescued by being lifted aboard the dirigible.

L. F. Sheffy was in Plainview Saturday attending the reunion of old timers of the Plains.

L. N. George Says—

Believe it or not there is going to be considerably over one hundred families in Canyon for the summer school. During the past twelve months, I have traveled 18,000 miles or two thirds of the distance around the globe in forty of the Panhandle counties. I have attempted to see every teacher and high school graduate in this territory and get before them the possibilities of W. T. S. T. C. The economy of coming to Canyon has appealed to superintendents and teachers alike. The first question asked by the superintendents and principals is "Will the college offer what I want?" This inquiry being answered satisfactorily, they ask, "Will I find a good place to stay?" I have said that Canyon will take care of them. I am still saying that, but, folks, we must get together on this. This recent rain will bring weeds and flies and the sixth of June will bring a lot of people. If we don't head off the weeds and flies they might head off some of our future attendance. People who have the best homes in town might begin thinking about how they could let out a room, of course after everything now available is taken. The biggest group of the finest people on earth is going to be our guest in the very near future. If we prove to be worthy hosts this summer next summer we will have to spread ourselves.

Every W. T. ex-student in Randall county should not fail to be present at the ex-student banquet June 1. The eyes of Texas are actually on you. We are going to really make some history that night and we want you to be there and be a part of that group. Some loyal exes are coming a long distance and will expect to see you there. Call the College Book Store and get your tickets immediately and help get other W. T. exes out that you possibly can.

BREAKING AN ATOM

For years scientists have sought to break the atom, a feat which has just been accomplished by two British physicists, Drs. Cockroft ar Walton, at Cambridge University, according to a London press dispatch.

While this does not mean much to the layman, it is hailed as one of the most notable scientific triumphs of recent years. Much speculation has been indulged in respecting what would happen if the atom were broken. Some predicted that a tremendous source of energy would thereby be made available, while extremists feared it would cause a world explosion.

According to Dr. Cockroft, what really resulted was the changing of hydrogen atoms into helium. This did develop a considerable amount of force, but apparently nothing to worry about, so far as blowing up this little planet of ours is concerned.

CANYON CITY CLUB NEWS

One of the big matches of the season was played Sunday when the Hereford team was defeated by the Club 9 1-4 points to 4 3-4. The Club team won six one point matches, five one-half point matches and three one-quarter point matches, making fourteen matches won and six lost for the entire team. Again, as against Happy, the back nine gave the decision for the home club.

Ed Mickle with a 35 and a 41; Lee Foster with a 34 and a 42 and Jimmie Gamewell with a 38 and a 38, were the low scores for the day.

The lower bracket players said it was just as hard to win a quarter point as it was for the upper bracket boys to win a full point.

A most enjoyable evening was had by those attending a Club picnic last week. About 100 answered "here" when chuck was announced. It is said they were not hampered by either toastmaster, speeches or the like—the line formed on the left and everybody loaded a plate; most of them made a second visit to the tables. Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Prichard, Mrs. Duflot and Mrs. Warwick, together with Dan Sanders and Mr. Condron, were given a vote of thanks for the arrangement and handling of the picnic supper.

Players were loud in their praise of Frank Shotwell, Club Ground Keeper, for the condition he had the course in for the Hereford match. The greens, tees and fairways were in a much better playing condition than was to be expected, especially the back nine.

It is estimated that four inches of rain and hail fell on the club grounds Tuesday afternoon doing considerable damage, said by some to be between $300 and $500; Bill Bryant says he must have more help than he has had heretofore in order to get the course back to a playable condition.

Winners and pairings in Sunday's match are as follows, with winners name appearing in first column:

Gamewell—J. M. Posey.
Clark—Donnell.
Reeves—J. A. Pittman.
Ed Cox—Craig.
Foster—Sharman.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Hamas' Second Win Over Loughran Proves Him Formidable Heavyweight Contender; Shows That All Collegiate Ringsters Aren't False Alarms

BY PHILIP MARTIN

IN the past college boys who entered the ring have, as a rule, failed to set the fight world on fire. Take such former gridiron greats as Monty Munn, Tiny Roebuck and Sully Montgomery, for instance. But there's one of these "rah rah boys" who seems to be going places.

Steve Hamas is the name. When this former Penn State athlete laced Tommy Loughran for the second time, he proved two things. One, that his first win over Tommy was the goods. And, two, that Steve Hamas must be reckoned with among the top-flight heavyweight title contenders.

Steve's short but sensational ring career, highlighted by knockouts of Loughran and Armand Emanuel, pales in comparison with his work in college athletics. At Penn State, it seems, whenever the recruits showed up for any sport, football or backgammon, there was Steve, ready to go.

• • •

STEPHEN V. (that "V" must stand for "versatile") Hamas entered Penn State as a freshman in the fall of '25, after graduating from the East Rutherford, N. J., high school near his home city of Passaic. His brother, Mike, incidentally, was a member of the original Passaic "wonder" basketball team.

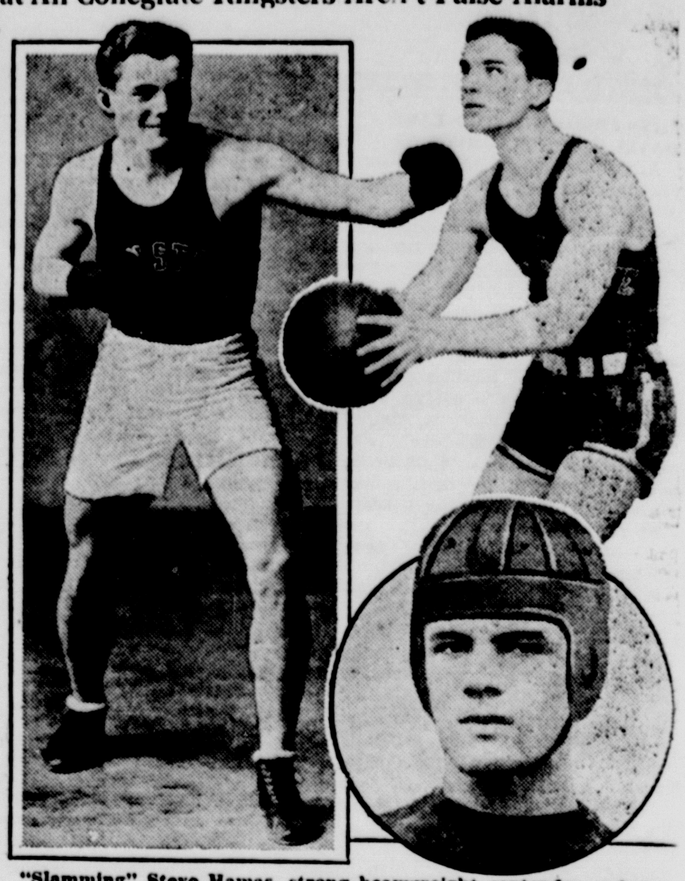
As a freshman Steve played football and basketball, winning numerals in each sport. In his sophomore year, Hamas played fullback, winning his first varsity letter; basketball; entered the intercollegiate boxing contests to win the championship, two weeks after his final basketball game, and turned out for baseball.

As a junior Steve again played fullback; then forward on the basketball team, winning his first varsity letter in that sport. Then he reported for boxing to defend his title, but lost in the preliminary round to Grant of N. Y. U. Incidentally, after a technical knockout victory over Hansen of Temple during one night of this tournament, Steve played a full game of basketball afterward and attended a dance later. What a man!

Ending up his junior year on the track team, Hamas scored enough points in the shot, discus and hammer to earn a letter, his fourth for the year.

In his senior year Hamas repeated his football and basketball program, and reported for boxing, regaining his heavyweight title. And then, with track, he took up lacrosse. He got five letters that year, or 11 in all, more than any Penn State man had ever made.

At the end of his ring career, Steve, who has an A. B. degree and has finished three years of premedical work, plans to carve out a future as a surgeon. But only when he gets tired of furnishing work for other surgeons.



"Slamming" Steve Hamas, strong heavyweight contender and one of the finest all-round athletes ever turned out by Penn State, is shown above in several photographs taken during his athletic college days. Hamas won 11 letters from the Nittany institution.

Faculty Members Continue Round Of Speaking Dates

W. T. Faculty members continued their annual round of commencement addresses last week, filling speaking dates all over the Panhandle. Led by President J. A. Hill, who talked in Plainview May 19, and in Tahoka May 20, among the faculty members who delivered commencement sermons at high schools all over this part of the country were Dr. F. M. Darnall, who substituted for Senator Clint C. Small Friday at McLean, S. H. Condron, who talked the same day at Pampa, Dean R. P. Jarrett, who spoke May 20 at Snyder, Dr. Albert Barnett, who talked May 20 at the Canyon High School, and C. W. Batchelder, who delivered commencement addresses at Higgins on May 18, and at Follett on May 20.

At least two more commencement addresses remain for faculty members to make, hokwever. Dr. Hill is to talk in Tulia tomorrow, and Mr. Condron is to talk in McAdoo the 27th. A slightly different type of address was made by R. A. Terrill Tuesday when he made a speech to the students of Tulia High School in their assembly and another the same day to the Tulia Kiwanis Club.

C. of C. Plans Negro Minstrel For June 17

Just two days before Emancipation Day, the "colored" folk of Canyon plan a "sumptious celebration."

This big jamboree, to be staged on June 17, featuring the boys from Carolina, is being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, to raise funds for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

An old-time, high class, fast stepping minstrel will be the presentation. Early indications point to the outstanding feature of the year for hilarious entertainment.

Work with the cast will be under way before the end of this week the director and his corps of assistants have stated.

Tall negroes, short negroes, fat negroes, lean negroes, and negroes of all sizes and dimensions will cavort, sing and dance for almost endless hours, to produce one round of loud laughter and applause after another. Specialty numbers featuring jig dancing, singing, as well as, an extra special Scotch number, will make the show worth several times the price of admission.

This entertainment has been branded as a "Dollar Show" by those who have carefully looked over the plans, but the Chamber of Commerce will sponsor it at "Repression Prices," in order that everyone may attend and enjoy the "Sumptious celebration," of Canyon's colored persons.

Daughter Former Faculty Member Is Promising Writer

Another daughter of West Texas bids fair to become famous!

According to The Denver Post, Mrs. Ara Virginia Spencer, daughter of Mrs. B. A. Stafford and who finished at W. T. in 1914, has written her first book, a juvenile for boys, "The Story of Steel."

Mrs. Spencer has only been writing since 1929. Since that time she has sold more than fifty stories and articles.

In the words of the reviewer: "The educational trend of this book will make it of real use as supplementary reading in grade schools and was undoubtedly born of Mrs. Spencer's own educational interests since she was herself a teacher for many years—in Texas before moving to Denver in 1920."

Mrs. Spencer writes under the pen-name, V. S. Spencer. Her father, B. A. Stafford, who died in 1930, was head of the Latin Department here from the opening of the college up to a few years before his death at which time he was forced to retire because of ill health. Mrs. Stafford continues to reside in Canyon.

Blythe Is Elected Prexy Scholarship Society Tuesday

At a call meeting of the Lloyd Green Allen Scholarship Society after chapel Tuesday, May 17, Dee C. Blythe, who will be a senior, was elected president for the coming year. Other officers will be elected at the opening of the fall term. T. J. (Jeff) Cox, who has been president during the past year will graduate.

The society in its quarterly meetings has done some very good work this year. One of their latest projects is raising money for the museum fund. They hope to raise fifteen dollars (15) or more by taxing each member the minimum of 25c. Letters concerning this are being sent to all the ex-society members.

The Lloyd Green Allen Society is a chapter member of the Scholarship Societies of the South and became a charter member February 22, 1922. The organization is composed of the ranking ten per cent of the junior and senior classes.

DEMAND GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY NOW

The increasing cost of government is one of the highest barriers in the path of industrial expansion and a return to normal conditions.

In 1913 total taxes were $2,187,000,000. In 1923 they were $1,234,000,000. In 1929 they were $10,251,000,000. The percentage of national income garnered by the tax collector for these years was 6.4 per cent, 10.1 per cent and 14.4 per cent, respectively. During this period the amount of tax per capita increased from $22.66 to $83.21. A family of five would thus pay $416.05 yearly on the 1930 basis.

It is customary to blame these increased costs on the extraordinary expenses made necessary by the war. But that applies only in the case of the Federal government, and in recent years local and state governments have been the worst tax-boosting offenders by far. This is likewise true in the case of the total public debt which increased from $4,200,000,000 in 1913, to $30,200,000,000 in 1922. In 1928, while the national debt had been decreased $5,400,000,000 in six years, due to Federal economies the state and local debt had increased $5,400,000,000.

The tax problem extends, with steadily increasing importance, through every branch of government. The orgy of spending which followed the war—and was largely the result of the inflation of 1926-1929— has come full circle at last. We are no longer able to increase taxation and public debt without seriously imperiling the future of the country. Investors are frightened, and money is hoarded. Businesses come to a standstill and more and more men are thrown out of work. Nothing could do more to start the country on the upgrade than decisive governmental economy—not next week or next year, but now.

Pershing Wins Pulitzer Prize

General John J. Pershing, who commanded the American forces during the World War, has proven that he is just as mighty with the pen as he is with the sword. Pershing's book, "My Experiences in the World War," won the 1931 Pulitzer prize in history. The above photograph, one of the latest taken, is an excellent likeness of Pershing.

ORIGIN OF ICE CREAM

Attempts to trace the origin of ice cream have been generally inconclusive, the invention or discovery of this popular dish being attributed to various nations and periods. But ice cream, or something closely akin to it, has been traced as far back as the middle of the sixteenth century, when it was introduced in France from Italy.

By 1630, it is said, an enterprising Sicilian had established the Cafe Procope in Paris, where ice cream was the special delicacy. It became known in England and Germany much later, and was probably not introduced into America until about the time of the Revolution.

The first advertisement of ice cream appeared in New York on June 8, 1786, but it was not served in Washington until nearly a half century later, when Mrs. Alexander Hamilton, used it as a dessert at a dinner given for President Jackson. The wholesale ice cream business was originated by Jacob Fussell of Baltimore in 1851, and met immediate success.

In recent years the use of ice cream has been increasing with amazing rapidity, until its production has almost reached the proportions of a major industry, being nearly 350 millon gallons, or about three gallons per capita.

The increased consumption of ice cream is entirely desirable, as it is not only an aid to the dairy industry, but also is in the interest of better nutrition and consequently of good health.

Hill, Duflot Write On Education Cost In 'Texas Outlook'

J. L. Duflot gathered the information for an article by Dr. J. A. Hill on "Ten Facts of Financing Education in the State of Texas" which appears in the May issue of The Texas Outlook. In it the cost of Education is approached from every conceivable angle, and it should be of interest to every business man, teacher and taxpayer of Texas.

The article is marked by an almost total lack of editorializing on the part of the author, who gives line after line of data, quoting indisputable sources. The fact that the article consists almost entirely of data makes it impossible to reproduce any of it here. An indication, however, of the contents may be from some of the sub-heads, which are: School Costs and Income; School costs and Tax Collections; School Property and National Wealth; School Costs and Certain Other Expenditures; Tax Burdens in Texas and in Other States; Causes of Increase in School Costs; Relative Position of Teachers' Salaries in Texas; Increasing Requirements for Teaching; Increasing Responsibilities of Education in Texas; and Some Accomplishments of Education in Texas. This article is obviously the fruit of painstaking research and careful compilation.

HIDDEN MONEY POPS OUT

"The Queen of the Hoarders" has stepped down off her throne, according to a news dispatch from Chicago. A woman went into a store there, took a fat roll of money from the deepest corner of her purse, and counted off 99 one-dollar bills and ordered a washing machine delivered at her home.

And all of the 99 bills were the old-time big ones. So, if she was not the leader of the tin can-coffee-pot-mantal-clock "depositor" in this country, who was, or is?

The Nation-wide drive to bring money out of hiding is gaining force everywhere. Families are beginning to realize that hidden money does no one any good. If they can find means to economize by spending, it is wise and helpful to spend, because dollars put into circulation keep moving and make conditions better wherever they go.

As fast as people come to realize that they help no one, not even themselves, by keeping their money to themselves, more and more of them will imitate this Chicago woman, put money into useful labor, time and money-savers like she did.

Lindy Tragedy Marks Fifth Anniversary Of First Stage of Paris Flight

THE twelfth day of May, 1932, ought to have been a happy anniversary day for Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh. Instead, it was the day of his greatest tragedy—the day the lifeless body of his kidnaped son was found in a New Jersey forest.

But it should have had another significance, for on May 12, 1927—precisely five years before the tragedy — Lindbergh landed in New York after a transcontinental flight from San Diego, and made ready for his flight to Paris.

He was Captain Lindbergh then, and few newspaper readers had ever heard of him. He had been an airmail flyer and a barnstormer, in the middle west. His plane had been built at San Diego, and he had found his backers in St. Louis, and when he announced, in San Diego, early that spring that he was going to fly to Paris, few people paid much attention to him.

But he soon proved that he was a very businesslike flyer. He took off from San Diego and made the 1600 miles to St. Louis in 14 hours. The next day he left for New York, covering the 950 miles in 7 hours and 15 minutes.

AT New York were other aviators waiting to take off on the hop to Paris. They were already famous, and had made elaborate preparations. One of them was Admiral Byrd; another was the popular Clarence Chamberlin.

Lindbergh unobtrusively dropped down out of the sky beside them, on May 12. Reporters and cameramen who haunted the flying field waiting to see Byrd and Chamberlin take off paid little attention to him, except that they found him a singularly likable chap who had a surprisingly modest attitude toward the business of getting his name into print. He was hard to interview because of this modesty, an interview printed in a New York paper the day after his arrival contained only a few laconic remarks, all of which, it was explained, had to be extracted from him almost by force.

BUT there was something about his plan to fly the ocean all alone that caught the public fancy; that, and his engaging smile, and the quietly competent way in which he had flown east from San Diego. So, while people discussed the relative chances of Byrd and Chamberlin, someone would remark, usually, that "this young Captain Lindbergh" might spring a big surprise and beat them all.

Which, of course—as nobody on earth needs to be told—was exactly what he did.

But May 12 was the anniversary of his arrival in New York—the anniversary of his very first appearance upon the front pages of the metropolitan newspapers.

It got a tragic celebration.

Here is Charles Lindbergh beside his plane, Spirit of St. Louis, in a picture taken May 12, 1927, just after he had landed at Roosevelt Field, L. I., following his flight from San Diego, Calif. Happy in preparations for his coming epochal solo flight to Paris, the future colonel could not know of the terrible tragedy discovered five years from that day—the finding of the lifeless body of his kidnaped baby.

D. A. Clippinger Is Speaker at Chapel Tuesday Morning

Mr. D. A. Clippinger, guest director of the Madrigal Club, addressed the student body in assembly, Tuesday May 17.

Mr. Clippinger had as the subject of his discourse the origin and development of son. It is Mr. Clippinger's belief that the song had its origin in the emotional outbursts of the primitive tribes. After the formulation of these various sounds the tribes began crude dancing to their rhythm. Necessity being the mother of invention even in pre-historic days, the tribes began the invention of crude instruments such as drums to use as an accompaniment to their song.

Mr. Clippinger won the interest and admiration of his audience by his frequent witticisms and his clear and pleasing voice. Too, he illustrated the stages of development and the methods of expressing emotions by playing them on the piano.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Last Sunday was a wonderful day for the church. There were excellent crowds at both services. There is still room for more, and we are expecting larger and larger crowds.

Have you counted them—yes, there are nearly three more weeks until our Gospel meeting will begin with Bro. Eceritt O'Dowd of Breckenridge, Texas, doing the preaching. We are going to expect to see you at each service.

Please note this change in morning services next Sunday. Preaching services will begin promptly at 9:45 o'clock and will be dismissed at 10:45, so as to enable those who wish to attend the graduating services at the College at 11 o'clock.

Remember the weekly services and be present at each one. Preaching Sunday night as usual at 8:15 o'clock.

Come where all are friendly.

John O'Dowd, Local Minister.

Invest Your Printing Money in Canyon

Canyon has one of the best equipped Printing Plants in West Texas, capable of producing high class printing of all kinds.

The investment of printing money in a Canyon firm means the improvement of this printing plant, increasing its value and usefulness to the community.

Thousands of dollars are distributed annually in Canyon to employees and for local expenses. Each and every firm in Canyon is benefitted by this money. The money spent for any printing done in Canyon results in increased business for the firm who patronizes the home concern. All the money sent away from Canyon is gone forever. The business firm which sends it away will never have an opportunity to reap a profit from the dollars which have been taken from Canyon's trade channels, and placed to flow in the business channel of another town.

Printing prices in Canyon are as low as in any town, service and good workmanship considered.

Invest Your Printing Money in Canyon—and money will be returned to you in added business.

Article on Poetry By Miss Goodman In May 'Outlook'

"Memorizing Poetry in the Intermediate Grades" is the title of an article by Miss Novella Goodman of the faculty of the Demonstration School which appears in the May issue of The Texas Outlook, an article that should be of great interest to every teacher and prospective teacher. In it Miss Goodman impresses upon the reader the value of a taste for poetry and the advisability of instilling this taste into the children at a tender age. But she emphasizes that poetry should not be taught, in the ordinary connotation of the word. The children should be made to regard poetry as pleasure, not as work, and to ask for it, not avoid it.

According to Miss Goodman, most existing texts of children's poetry are woefully inadequate, for they include too many poems which are beyond the depth of the pupils. Miss Goodman's article is punctuated with many quotations from poems she considers good examples of the proper type. Among the poets she quotes are A. A. Milne, Vachel Lindsay, Mary Carolyn Davies, Sara Teasdale, Bliss Carman, Edna St. Vincent Millay, and Edward Thomas.

Miss Goodman concludes her article with an outlining of the procedure she uses in teaching her pupils to memorize and to appreciate poetry.

Watch Neck, Sleeve Lines This Summer

PARIS DOES MANY THINGS WITH COWLS, WHICH ARE INVALUABLE FOR MAKING ORDINARY FROCKS DISTINCTIVE

BY HARRIET

NECKLINES and sleeves are all important in your summer things.

Sometimes a dress of fabric that is not distinctive can become an unique creation, just by an original neckline and sleeve treatment.

Cowls are still in high demand, both for daytime and evening wear But the cowl must do something or other original or it doesn't have the chic of a different cut It has been done so much

Paris knows this and manages to get the loveliest cuts and drapes and adaptations of the cowl neckline imaginable

For instance, Lanvin, in a stunning black marocain dress which has squares worked on tulle to give an effect of transparency, has a lovely V cowl neckline which makes a little turned-back collar on the sides and in the back

This dress has charming sleeves, too. They start out as if they would be the new full, bloused, bell sleeves. Instead, they do make a blouse on the inside of the arm, while the outer section falls like a cape, pointed a little bit, ending just below the elbow. There is a wide light belt with this dress and a picture hat of straw

MAINBOCHER makes a tailored spectator sports dress for smart women this summer that combines a one-sided cowl neckline with a cape jabot on the other and has trim buttons and buttonholes down the center to keep them from fighting

It is of blue crepe Mongol, made with a circular skirt which trims itself down to a fitted hipline and beltline. The sleeves are lovely, too, restrained in their fullness and fitted into a long shaped cuff.

The newest evening neckline for summer is the uneven one. A strap on one side, a capelet, a puff, a drape or what have you on the other But this is a formal neckline Most of the informal things just see to it that your shoulders are covered, even if the back goes bare, which it does very often now. There is some stressing of the square neckline. Especially the wide, shallow square neckline. This is very becoming on women with delicate features and an oval face. But if your face is square, pick a V neckline. It's more becoming.

Sleeves can be anything from a mere frill at the top to the most exaggerated flowing ones for hot afternoons. But even sports things make a pase at covering the top of the arm.

Chimp Champ Over Child

Putting aside traditional parent-pride, Dr and Mrs. W N. Kellogg, shown above, reported that after a nine-month test of their baby and a pet chimpanzee, the latter had developed faster and was in every way superior to their child. The ape had learned faster, remembered longer and understood a greater number of human words and phrases, after this amazing psychological experiment, conducted in rigid seclusion in a Jacksonville, Fla., bungalow Dr Kellogg and his wife are scientists at Indiana University
